Bishop Potter, of New York, says the solution of the negro question is to educate the negro and thus raise him to the plane of the white race. Some more study of the negro might enable the Bishop to change his views somewhat.

Some fellow has a cinch on prairie dog poison in Kansas. The Agricultural Department is sending out $1,300 worth a month and can't supply the demand. It is said that two quarts of the stuff will exterminate the little dogs of a densely infested quarter section.

And now Canada wants to bar John Chinaman out. A committee appointed to investigate and report to the Parliament on that question recommends a capitation tax of $500 on every Chinaman that wants to squat in China. That would probably accomplish the freeze out.

A Birmingham, N. Y., dispatch says that at a meeting of the General Traffic Managers held there, it was decided that a corpse which was charged a full fare is entitled to the same amount of baggage as a live person paying full fare. The remarkable thing about it is that this was done without any kick from the corpses that had travelled over their roads.

Mexico is a silver and gold mining country, but the laboring man earns on an average about twelve cents a day and is paid in coppers. When the housekeeper goes to market she buys a cent's worth of one thing and a cent's worth of another, and thus strings out the copper supply. In Mexico the rich people are very rich (for that country) and the poor people are very poor. And that's one of the things that's the matter with that country, which with its rich soil and wealth making resources ought to be a great one.

CONFERENCE LAST NIGHT.

Came to Look Into Matter of Additional Train Service Between Wilmington and Hamlet — Favorably Impressed With the City.

No immediate results followed the conference last night of the trades bodies of the city with the Seaboard Air Line officials in regard to the additional train service between Wilmington and Hamlet, but prominent members of the joint committee, which has the matter in charge, expressed themselves after the meeting as very much encouraged at the prospect for a concession of all that they desired. A decision, however, will not be forthcoming from the officials until they have returned to the general offices in Portsmouth and carefully canvassed the situation among themselves.

Vice President and General Manager J. M. Barr and Superintendent D. H. Barger, of the second division of the Seaboard, with headquarters in Raleigh, arrived yesterday from Columbia via Hamlet in Mr. Barr's private car attached to the belated train of their own system which arrived at 2 P. M. and Traffic Manager W. H. Pleasants arrived via the Coast Line in the morning from Norfolk. The committee on transportation expected to have entertained the visitors at The Orton during their stay in Wilmington, but Mr. Barr expressed a preference to remain on his car, which he did with Mr. Pleasants and Mr. Barger. In the afternoon the officials were taken for a complimentary trip about the harbor on the steamer Navassa, which was kindly tendered by Mr. H. W. Malloy. The following business men composed the escort; President Jacobi, of the Chamber of Commere; President W. E. Springer and Secretary P. Heinsberger, of the Merchants' Association; President P. Pearsall, of the Produce Exchange; Captain T. D. Meares, General Agent of the S. A. L. at Wilmington; Messrs. W. E. Worth, W. B. Cooper, L. B. Rogers, H. W. Malloy, L. Bluethenthal, George R. French and George W. Brunson, Jr. The Almont factory and Pittsburgh Lumber Mill were visited up Northeast river, and then the steamer took a glide down the Cape Fear as far as the "dram tree." Returning to the wharf the officials were taken for a drive over the city, to East Wilmington and Delgado Mills, returning to the hotel about 6 P. M.

Last night the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce were well filled with representative business men. At the desire of Mr. Barr the meeting was entirely informal and partook more of the nature of a general conference. The visitors were introduced to individual members of the gathering and an informal discussion ensued, with Mr. P. Pearsall acting as chairman.

Mr. H. W. Malloy, a leading member of the joint committee, detailed the result of the conference of the committee with the officials in the afternoon. He said they were perfectly willing to give Wilmington the extra service desired, provided the train could be made to pay. He said it was the concensus of opinion that the double daily passenger service would not pay in itself and the only way to get the train would be to remunerate the company in the way of an additional freight patronage commensurate with the service afforded. There is business in Wilmington, he said, which the company is not getting that rightfully belongs to it; that its business has decreased the past ten years while Wilmington has grown. The patronage here had not been cultivated or invited with an adequate service but now all concerned desired a remedy for the condition. A good country lies between Wilmington and Hamlet which anxiously awaits development. The land is just as fertile as one could wish. The road had been built 40 years and he was satisfied fewer trains had passed over it than any other road similarly situated in America. The train, Mr. Malloy, said, would be put on the road if the business men of Wilmington would pledge an all-round patronage, commensurate with the service.

Mr. J. C. Stevenson said it appeared a favorable opportunity for "getting a plum thrown our way" and he was willing to do anything reasonable to that end. There was some reason why the S. A. L. had not participated in the good to be derived from this section. Time was when the naval store industry along the W. & W. was exhausted; then the people took to trucking and were given every encouragement in the way of adequate traffic. He had often wondered why the Seaboard Air Line had not developed its section leading to Wilmington which has practically the same soil, climatic conditions, etc. He believed it was because the Seaboard had not invited it with fast service, and that if a morning train, with express car attached, was put on, it would lead to great things for the future. In regard to the patronage, he said he believed he could assure the officials that it was in the hearts of Wilmington people to give them a full share of their business. It was a question of superior facilities. There was a plan on foot, not in contemplation of that meeting, he said, by which the bulk of Western freight could be turned. The business people wanted to be met only half way.

Mr. Barr next spoke and said when he was with the Norfolk & Western at Roanoke a few years ago he had opportunity of gauging the tremendous truck movement via the A. C. L. and that when he went with the Seaboard one of his first questions to the Traffic Manager was as to why no truck was raised on the Carolina Central. He was informed that only about ten square miles in this section was adapted to truck growing. He said the reason better schedules were not maintained on the Wilmington road was that the business was lacking. He had notified farmers in the vicinity of Maxton that the S. A. L. would provide ample transportation for all the truck and fruit they desired to raise. He knew not yet the effect of that offer. He inferred that the same offer is made to the farmers further this way.

As far as the additional passenger service is concerned he said he could add little to what had been said by Mr. Malloy. The extra train would not pay for some time but they were willing to put it on at a loss if they have the assurance of the business people of Wilmington that they could get a fair share of their freight patronage. He did not ask money but only a reasonable concession which could be made by the business people without a penny loss. It was a business proposition with the road and with the people.

Mr. J. A. Taylor asked if the improved service included both passenger and freight. However satisfactory the passenger facilities might be, the people could not be expected to tender their freight patronage, unless that service was improved. He cited several instances of unsatisfactory transportation of freight and recommended a method by which claims could be settled promptly here without the necessity of lengthy observation of red tape through the Portsmouth office.

Mr. J. A. Arringdale made a humorous speech in good taste and said he had no "kick coming."

Mr. Hugh MacRae and others corrected the erroneous impression that only ten square miles of the Seaboard territory was available for truck. The tracks ran for some distance nearly parallel with the W., C. & A. and at Chadbourn there was one of the finest strawberry belts in the world.

Mr. W. B. Cooper said he was of the opinion that the S. A. L. got about 20 per cent. of Wilmington freight, but with improved service he was willing to divide up.

Mr. Sam Bear, Jr., suggested the appointment of Messrs. Hugh MacRae, B. F. Hall and H. W. Malloy to follow the question of double daily service to a conclusion. Several others suggested that the present committee should be allowed to prosecute the matter and Mr. Bear withdrew his motion in deference to the existing committee, which he thought had completed its labors.

Mr. M. W. Jacobi spoke of the possibilities of immigration and the development of the country by the Seaboard.

A discussion then arose as to whether the assurances of support should be given in public meeting then assembled or through committee.

Mr. McRae thought no pledge whatever should be given; the Seaboard should look to the development of truck farming and immigration, just as the Coast Line had developed the segments of its road cut off by through lines. The A. C. L. readily agreed to the business men's request to put on a double-daily service on the W., C. & A. at a loss and exacted no pledge; why should not the Seaboard do the same? It was not fair to take from the benefactor without price and barter to another.

This was agreed to by several and dissented from by several and the "assurance" question again came up, a discussion following as to the way it should be given. Mr. Malloy at length explained that in the absence of any action the matter would remain in the hands of the present committee and he, therefore, moved to adjourn, which motion was carried.

After the meeting Mr. Barr and the other visitors were entertained at luncheon at the Elks' Club, and expressed themselves as highly pleased with Wilmington and its people. They have abiding faith in its future and will do the very best their business judgment will allow in the matter of the extra train service.

Messrs. Barr, Pleasants and Barger will leave this morning on their private car attached to the northbound A. C. L. train.

JOHN LOVE BARNES.

A Highly Esteemed and Popular Young Man Passed Away This Morning.

TRIBUTE BY HIS PASTOR.

He Had Been Ill a Little More Than Ten Days With Pneumonia—Was Bookkeeper and Cashier for The A. David Company.

Mr. John Love Barnes an exceedingly popular young business man and son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Barnes, of this city, died this morning at 1:15 o'clock after a brief though very severe illness with pneumonia. The news of his death, though not unexpected, will come to hundreds of friends this morning as a very severe blow, for few young men in the community enjoyed the popularity, confidence and esteem of as many people in every walk of life as the deceased.

Mr. Barnes was taken sick with pneumonia Monday a week ago and gradually grew worse until the end peacefully came this morning to relieve him of his suffering. Very soon after he was confined to his room complications of lung trouble set in and for the past week or more his life was despaired of. At times he would rally and hope would be entertained for his recovery but these periods were of short duration and there were frequent and anxious inquiries on the streets and at the home as to his condition. Thursday night about 10 o'clock he relapsed into unconsciousness and it was seen then that the end was very near.

His father, Mr. J. W. Barnes, and brother, Mr. James W. Barnes, Jr., arrived last Sunday morning from Florida and a sister, Mrs. G. L. Finch, wife of the Rev. G. L. Finch, of Columbia, arrived on the morning previous to be with him during the last moments.

Little can be added to the following very beautiful tribute prepared by the young man's pastor, Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell, of the First Baptist church, who remained at his bedside until the end was very near:

"John L. Barnes died at the family residence, No. 911 Market street, this morning, in the 27th year of his age. He leaves a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes; one brother, J. W. Barnes, Jr.; two sisters, Mrs. G. L. Finch, of Columbia, S. C., and Miss Ethel Barnes, of this city, to mourn his untimely departure. His illness with pneumonia has been brief, and in spite of the highest skill and tenderest nursing the sad end came all too soon.

"It was a family of unusual tenderness of devotion and the breaking of this tie in the beautiful home circle leaves a scene of sorrow, indeed pathetic. Mr. Barnes was a bright young business man, the bookkeeper and cashier for the A. David Company. For his quiet manners, industry, sterling integrity and manliness he was greatly admired by hundreds. His devotion to his home and family was beautiful. Many appreciated tokens of esteem have come from every quarter. His early demise removes from among us a promising young man, a faithful member of the First Baptist church, and a worthy example of filial devotion."

MRS. ALICE J. NOBLE.

Died Early Yesterday Morning in Baltimore — Remains Will be Brought Here To-day for Interment.

Members of the family and a host of friends in Wilmington heard yesterday with the profoundest sorrow of the death of Mrs. Alice J. Noble, wife of Prof. M. C. S. Noble, formerly of this city but now of the chair of Pedagogy in the University of North Carolina, which occurred after midnight Thursday in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, whither she had gone for treatment two weeks before.

Mrs. Noble had been in failing health for a year or more but not until about a month ago did her illness take a serious turn. All that modern science could do to restore her to health was exhausted, but without avail. She passed peacefully away in the triumph of a Christian faith at the time indicated.

Mrs. Noble was the oldest daughter of the late Oran S. and Mrs. Margaret A. Yarborough, of this city, and was a woman noted for her kind, affectionate disposition and sweet Christian character. Many friends and acquaintances feel in her death a sense of personal loss. She lived here for a number of years and was a devout member of St. James' Episcopal parish. There are surviving her, besides the sorrowing husband and mother, two sisters, Misses Mary A. and Kate J. Yarborough, and two brothers, Messrs. William C. and Charles D. Yarborough, all of this city. They have the sincerest sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

The remains of the deceased lady, accompanied by the husband, Prof. Noble, and his brother, Dr. R. J. Noble, of Selma, will arrive in Wilmington at 10:10 o'clock this morning via Atlantic Coast Line and the funeral services will be conducted from the residence of Mrs. Yarborough, corner Fifth and Grace streets, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The services will be by Rev. J. N. Cole, pastor of Grace M. E. church, assisted by Rev. Dr. James Carmichael, rector of St. John's Episcopal parish. The interment will be in Oakdale.

BLOOD HOUND HAS ARRIVED.

One Purchased by City Got Here Yesterday and is Doing Well.

The blood hound which the city recently purchased from Dr. Meisenheimer, of Anson county, arrived on the early train from Florence yesterday morning and created no little interest about police headquarters during the day. He is an ordinary-looking hound with a few exceptions; is "yaller," if that means anything, and has been christened "Tobe" by the hall officers. "Tobe" comes on probation and made many friends at the station yesterday. He seems to take a liking to the place and signifies in canine language—a friendly wag of the tail—that he would like to stay a long time, provided everything is agreeable.

His presence has already had a salubrious effect on evil doers, for one negro hearing that he was wanted at the station and that "Tobe" had arrived, came to the hall and voluntarily gave himself up. He didn't appreciate the idea of "taking a tree," with "Mr. Tobe's" suggestive yelps in his ear.

Fireman W. H. Hardee, of Engine Company No. 1, who had many years' experience as keeper of the kennels at the State penitentiary while employed there as a guard, expresses the opinion that the dog is all right and needs a little practice. He has volunteered to assist Chief Furlong in any way possible in the training of the animal.

A STIFF "SKIN" GAME.

Four Negroes Got Thirty Days Each On County Roads Yesterday.

In the police court yesterday Fred Mills, the negro who threw a brick at Mr. Frank T. Mills a few nights ago, was sent to the county roads for 30 days. Nathan Williams, John Grady and Tom Wells, colored, also got 30 days each for disorderly conduct. Their particular disorder was indulging in a "skin" game on Brunswick street Thursday night. Frank Register claims that the three, failing to get his money in process of the game, threw him down and robbed him of 30 cents—all he had; whereupon he turned informant and Policeman C. E. Wood arrested them. The defendants in the case claim that Register became "riled" because he lost two cents and that his statement in regard to having the proverbial "thirty cents" was all bosh. The Mayor, however, was not interested in a discussion of Register's financial reverses and sentenced his assailants each to a day on the roads for each penny that he claimed to have lost. Register left the court triumphant.

BROKE INTO A SHANTY CAR

Sam Moffit, a young negro who says he came from near Fayetteville, was arrested yesterday about noon at Navassa station, four miles from the city, and was locked up at the station house here at 1:40 P. M. by Chief Furlong and Officer Reville, charged with breaking into the shanty car of an A. C. L. freight train, which remained on the yards in this city Thursday night.

The negro is charged specifically with having stolen a valuable gun belonging to Flagman Bert Strickland, a pistol belonging to a negro brakeman and a number of articles of clothing belonging to several others. The negro was offering the gun for sale at Navassa at a remarkbly low figure and parties to whom he offered to sell 'phoned to police headquarters if the weapon had been stolen. The supposition proved correct and Chief Furlong 'phoned in reply to hold the negro until he arrived. He went with Officer Reville on a shifting engine and met the Navassa parties bringing the negro to the city at Hilton bridge.

The car was broken open between 10 and 11 P. M. as it was not occupied by employes during that time.

SOME PHASES OF PROTECTION.

The peculiar and contradictory phases of protection have been brought prominently to view since the question of wider foreign markets has been mooted and reciprocity as one of the methods of bringing that about has been discussed, but especially since there has been such a lively wrangle over Cuban reciprocity. But all this simply shows what Governmental protection is when carried out to its logical result.

The professed and ostensible purpose in adopting protective tariff duties was to stimulate and foster manufacturing enterprises in this country until we became self dependent and our manufactories became strong enough to stand alone without any governmental pampering or support.

Whether our manufactories would have increased as rapidly as they have or not without this protective stimulus is an open question, but probably not for there would not have been the same inducement to invest money in them. Assuming, therefore, that the protective tariff has been a powerful agency in the development of our manufacturing industries, it was also a powerful agency in overdoing the business by bringing into existence more manufactories than the home market could support, thus doing two things—leading to combinations and consolidations to prevent injurious competition, and making foreign markets a necessity to keep these manufactories running full time or anything like it. If they had only the home market to consider they could very easily manage that for they could gauge their output in proportion to the demand, but there are a good many independent manufactories and consequently it is not practicable to cut down the forces employed and stop work when the home market is supplied. To keep running it is necessary to have foreign markets—not only enough to take the surplus that cannot be consumed at home, but much more. To dispose of their goods in foreign markets they have to compete with foreign manufacturers and sell as low or lower than their competitors do. This they have been doing for some years and are doing now. Presumably they sell these goods on a comparatively small margin of profit while their large profits are on the goods they sell at home. But the capacity for production is so large that they feel the necessity of more foreign markets, hence the necessity of reciprocity and as a necessary preliminary to this a modification of the protective tariff duties.

Here is where some of the peculiar phases come in. They are all anxious for enlarged markets and hence favor reciprocity and as a preliminary to that are in favor of tariff reduction, provided that reduction is made on the things that are made by others. They say that tariff reductions on articles made by the other fellows would be a splendid thing, but that it would seriously injure if it would not ruin them. That's what they all say, so that while they are warmly in favor of reciprocity and of tariff reduction as the necessary step to that, they are opposed to any tariff reduction that would touch them and consequently practically opposed to all tariff reduction and to reciprocity and to enlarged markets. They want to hold all they have without surrendering anything, and get all they ask without conceding anything in return.

This is aptly illustrated in the case of Cuba, over tariff concessions to which there has for some time been such an animated discussion. There is a fine market in that island for American machinery of various kinds, agricultural implements, flour, cotton goods, &c. It is said that with satisfactory concessions we could control nine tenths of Cuba's trade. The men who make machinery, agricultural implements, flour, cotton goods, &c., are in favor of reciprocity and of the tariff concessions necessary to effect that. But when that is proposed the men who manufacture sugar, grow tobacco and citrus fruits raise a howl and exclaim that tariff reduction on these things would ruin them. They would be perfectly willing to see reductions on anything else and on everything else provided their sugar, tobacco and citrus fruits were exempted and permitted to remain where they are, under the fostering care of protection. The manufacturers of machinery, agricultural implements, flour and cotton goods are also protected, some more and some less, so that here we have the protected confronting the protected, one demanding that the other yield and surrender for its benefit, and either willing to sacrifice the other for its benefit.

But this is one of the peculiar and logical features of the protective tariff system which taxes one industry and hampers it for the benefit of another industry which is stronger and better able to do without protection than the weaker industry is to be taxed for the benefit of the stronger one. When we get down to the essence of it the protective system is in effect one to crush small industries for the benefit of larger ones, and to prevent the expansion of trade claimed to be necessary for the prosperity of the industries claimed to have been called into existence by this protection.

Protection does this because its beneficiaries oppose such modifications of the tariff as would bring about reciprocity with other nations and open wider doors to our exports. Here is where the greed comes in which while recognizing the necessity of liberal dealing and concessions want others to do the liberal dealing and to make the concessions for their benefit. That is an illustration of protection and of Governmental paternalism when carried out to their logical conclusions.

HOW TO UTILIZE THE CONVICTS.

The good roads question is a live one now in a good many States, North and South, for the people have begun to realize the importance and value of good roads. In Virginia the people are waking up on it as they are in this State, and shortly a Good Roads State Convention is to be held at Richmond, similar to the one held a short while ago in this State, when a resolution was unanimously adopted favoring the employment of our State convicts in the building of roads.

This way of employing convicts seems to be attracting attention in Virginia, too, as we gather from a communication in the Richmond Dispatch, from a citizen who takes the ground that this is the way to build roads. He begins his communication thus:

"An era of road building is to be instituted. It comes none too soon. We are indebted to our new Governor for the encouragement he gives. It seems in order to offer suggestions. In Kentucky more than fifteen years ago, I noticed from the windows of the cars, numbers of convicts, clad in their stripes, busy at work on the roads, and it seemed to stretch for miles. In North Carolina, the success with which they have been employed on on the roads around Charlotte, is well known. It seems to me the convicts from both jails and penitentiary might be profitably employed in such service in this State; all that could be spared from the penitentiary under present conditions, and especially those lodged in the jails in the towns and cities. The manner of their employment is a matter of detail; but one plan has often occurred to me. The State abounds in cliffs and quarries of stone. Many of these are on the lines of the railroads; put a camp of convicts at one of these to crush the stone, and I believe the railroads would haul it free of charge to stations along its line if the counties would then take it and with it build roads to such stations. In this manner the cost, too great for any one of the three, would be distributed between the State, the railroads and the counties. Of course, what is said respecting the railroads depends on their pleasure; but from the great interest they have and manifest in the subject I believe they would be willing to cooperate to that extent. With good roads, farms that now bring from $2 50 to $8 an acre, would readily sell for from $10 to $30."

His suggestions as to putting numbers of convicts to work in quarries getting out and crushing stone for macadamizing are good ones for this State also where there is at many points an abundance of stone near railroads, and the railroads would in all probability cooperate here as he thinks they would in Virginia, thus dividing the expense of construction.

What he says about the enhanced value of lands as a result of good roads has been demonstrated in Mecklenburg county, in this State, and in New Jersey, and in Indiana, in the sections where good roads have been built.

Speaking more especially of our own State we rarely open one of our State exchanges that we do not see some mention made of the horrible condition of the roads, making it almost impossible for the farmers to haul anything to the towns and as a result dull times and small sales by the merchants. All are losing money by the bad roads, which could be made good by proper and well directed effort.

Three Frank D. Shoemakers, one from Philadelphia, one from St. Louis and one from Butte, Montana, happened to strike a Chicago hotel simultaneously, and then there was a perplexing comedy of errors; one fellow got the other's mail, and another one got the other fellow's baggage, and another got one other fellow's bills, and when they discovered how it was, they settled up, wound up their stay at that hasherie, and scattered. Now what we would like to know is what mystic magnet drew three Frank D. Shoemakers to Chicago at the same time and lodged them in the same hostelry.

A Kentucky candidate for Congress has added a unique feature to his canvass. He has a daughter who is a skilful man—or rather girl-ipolator, or ipolatress of the fiddle and the bow. Before her pa begins hostilities she "soothes the savage breast" with her dulcet strains, and then he turns on a fire of oratory and captures the crowd. Good combination.

The Boers are accused of wearing English uniforms when attacking the British. Well, with their depleted wardrobes they could not be expected to be particular.

A DEPARTMENT THAT PAYS.

"The wisdom of the Legislature in establishing the North Carolina Insurance Department as a part of the State government has been amply proven in the administration of the office by Hon James R Young

"Mr Young yesterday paid into the State treasury the handsome sum of $28 887 75, the amount collected for licenses, taxes and fees during the month of February. Added to the amount already paid in during the current fiscal year, this makes the nice sum of $123,242, which is exactly $32,169 08 more than was collected during the whole of the last fiscal year, and there is yet nearly a month of the present fiscal year to run. The year ends April 1st.

"From this it is safe to say that this year's receipts from the Insurance Department will exceed by about $40,000 the receipts of last year.

"Before the establishment of the Insurance Department, when the business was handled by the Secretary of State, the receipts averaged about $80,000 yearly. The first year of Mr. Young's administration brought the receipts up to about $90,000. The next year there was a slight increase over the first, notwithstanding the withdrawal from the State of some of the best and strongest companies, under the Craig law.

"The expenses of the department, including salaries of the commissioner and his clerks, are more than paid by the class of fees that formerly went into the pocket of the Secretary of State.

"And that is not all. It is not telling the whole story to show the amount actually paid into the State treasury by the department and the comparatively small expense incurred in its administration. Benefits almost incalculable are are accruing from the vigilance of the commissioner in the matter of the investigation of fires and the enforcement of the laws relating thereto. Then, in addition to that, everything in the shape of an insurance concern, whether mutual, assessment, fraternal order, industrial or other forms, are brought directly under the supervision of the department.

"The law is not a dead letter in the hands of Mr. Young. Using the means given him, he has made the State an uncomfortable berth for 'underground' and 'wildcat' concerns, and as fast as they have been discovered all such have been driven out of the State. One persistent agent of a fraudulent company is now serving a two years' term on the Wake county roads. The people of the State are protected, as every company must pass a strict examination before it can secure license to sell insurance here.

"The Insurance Department has succeeded beyond the most sanguine expectations of those who were the prime movers in its establishment."

Aside from the testimony these figures supply as to the efficiency and zeal of the insurance commissioner, the more important fact is that our people are protected from fraudulent and wild cat concerns of other States, of which they know little, and by which no doubt many have been caught, to their sorrow, in the past. This makes more business for responsible companies from our own and and other sections.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—The lack of independence exhibited by the members of the House is not at all calculated to help along the plan to elect United States Senators by the direct votes of the people. The fact that they are elected in this manner doesn't seem to inspire the House members with an extraordinary amount of nerve.—Washington Post, Ind.

—The United States were not unrepresented in that last gallant fight of the Boers for the independence of their country a few days ago, when they captured Gen. Methuen and four of his guns and so many of his officers and men. The Boers had our "sympathy" and the British were riding the horses and mules with which we have so freely supplied them.—Charleston News and Courier, Dem.

—Phiysically, morally and mentally Gunner Joseph Hill, of the sunken battleship Maine, has been found fit for a higher grade among the commissioned officers of the Navy, that of ensign, for instance; but he lacks "professional qualifications," the examiners say. And now the gunner says that he will not give it up, but will try to acquire the professional qualifications. He is of the sort that succeed, honorable ambition being the spur to their intent. —Brooklyn Citizen, Dem.

—The fate of Gunner Joseph Hill, following that of Gunner Morgan, shows that it is impossible for an American seaman to break through the barriers of the navy and obtain a commission. While many a private soldier rises to high rank, there is no prospect for a seaman to rise in the exclusive and autocratic naval establishment. This explains why ambitious and public-spirited American youth so greatly prefer the mercantile service to the navy.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

He threw Mr. Davenport several feet in the air, and when he fell to the ground the bull rushed on him again. Dr. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION FOR WEAK WOMEN.

The dairy farmer as a general thing should raise his own stock—that is, the heifers—says a correspondent of American Cultivator. Of course he should get the best males he can from the most approved families or breeds and then select the most promising heifer calves from the best cows.

A considerable proportion of our most enterprising dairymen, those who are in a condition to do so, have their cows fresh in milk from September on during the four succeeding months. This affords a good opportunity for raising a fine lot of fall and winter calves that, if well cared for, will become large, thrifty animals, which another spring, as the pastures become good, will be fully able to care for themselves.

The raising of calves in this manner is becoming quite an industry of itself where winter dairying is practiced. It comes at a time of the year when the work can be readily performed and in the best manner.

To be the most successful in this business there are some necessary conditions. These are comfortable quarters, where the young animals can be kept dry and warm. This is very important, as they can hardly be expected to thrive or do well in cold, dark, wet pens.

Plenty of bedding to keep them dry is one of the requisites, and they should be fed regularly with sweet, warm milk. It may be skimmilk after the first few weeks or days even, with neither too little nor too much at a time. Where separators are used on the farm or cold, deep setting of milk is practiced these conditions can be successfully carried out.

Where calves are thus kept in a comfortable stable and fed milk until the following spring they should become such animals as the owner may well be proud of. But milk should not form the entire ration. After a few weeks they will commence to eat a little hay, and it should be fed to them regularly and that of the best quality. If there is a silo on the premises, the ensilage will be relished and help to make a better ration.

Not much grain need be fed, as it is essential to develop the milking qualities rather than those of a beef tendency. A little bran or oats will not come amiss. The idea should be to keep them healthy, thrifty and growing all through the winter.

BALANCED RATIONS

In marketing my cream to fancy trade I make capital of the fact that I use only well matured and well cured foods for dairy cows, says an Ohio farmer in American Agriculturist. Our feed consists of clover hay and corn stover fed whole at the rate of one part of clover to two of stalks. Our grain feed consists principally of corn and oats produced on the farm.

I try to balance the grain ration with protein in its cheapest market form, as the prices may vary on oilmeal, gluten or cottonseed. I think that most modern idea dairymen feed too much protein rather than not enough in proportion to the fatty foods. If less intensive methods were used in the feeding and stabling of cattle, we should have much less tuberculosis, calf scours, abortion and disease generally in our herds. Plenty of the more natural foods, plenty of exercise and fresh air are good agents with which to combat disease.

A Massachusetts Ration.

The following grain mixtures are given by the Massachusetts experiment station as desirable rations for dairy cattle, together with the daily ration of each to be fed in connection with the coarse forage on the farm. These should all be mixed before feeding:

Six to 7 quarts per day of 100 pounds cottonseed, gluten or linseed meal, 125 pounds flour middlings, 100 pounds wheat bran or mixed feed; 8 quarts of 250 pounds gluten feed, 100 pounds wheat bran or mixed feed; 5 to 6 quarts gluten feed daily scattered on the silage; 6 to 8 quarts daily of 100 pounds fine middlings, 100 pounds brewer's grain or malt sprouts; 6 to 7 quarts of 100 pounds cottonseed or gluten meal, 150 pounds corn or hominy meal, 100 pounds wheat bran or mixed feed; 4 to 6 quarts of 100 pounds gluten feed, 100 pounds wheat bran or mixed feed; 4 quarts of 100 pounds gluten feed, 100 pounds hominy feed.

Ration For Milk Cows.

Professor Thomas Shaw of the Minnesota experiment station suggests that the grain ration for milk cows should be "what is now known as succotash" and that if this should be grown so that one part would be wheat, two parts oats ground together and the three parts added to one-fourth part of cornmeal the ration would be a good one. It might be all right for his general purpose cow that he is so fond of praising, but it is not a ration for a milk cow or a butter cow, says American Cultivator. Give us three quarts of wheat bran, one quart of cornmeal and one quart of cottonseed meal, and we can get more milk and make 50 per cent more butter from a good cow than can be made from the above ration, and we think at less cost, though we have not figured it out at present prices.

Cows Like Variety In Food.

The feeder should study to give cows as great variety of food as possible. They love a variety as well as we do and if allowed freedom to get a variety will have it and do much better than if confined to one or two kinds of feed, no matter how good those foods may be.

His Million.

An Irishman who had but recently arrived in this country applied to a Scotchman for a job. The Scotchman determined to give Pat a trial—also a little advice. "It will be your own fault if you don't get ahead in this country, Pat," said the Scotchman. "Twenty years ago I landed in New York with but one shirt to my back, but since then by my own exertions I have managed to accumulate a million."

"Faith, an' Oi'd loike to be afther knowin' phwat any man wants with a million shirts!" exclaimed Pat. "He can't wear more than wan at a toime, begorra!"—Exchange.

Even with set tubs, two wooden ones of handy size help out amazingly. One would better be kept especially for table linen and for rinsing the finest white things. PAINE'S CELERY Compound

Professor Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., according to the ethics of honest and reputable physicians, gave to the leading medical men of the world his wonderful prescription Paine's Celery Compound as soon as it was perfected. For this reason Paine's Celery Compound has never been included among patent medicines. Coming from so high a source, and being so thoroughly tested and so strongly recommended, physicians prescribe it with confidence.

Paine's Celery Compound rapidly gains in fame as a disease banisher; all who have tried it gratefully acknowledge its curing and life giving power. It drives the poison germs of deep seated diseases from the blood; it brings buoyancy of spirit in place of lassitude and despondency; it enables the overtaxed and broken down system to start fairly on the road to health; it gives the sweet sleep so necessary to brain and nerves. It strengthens, invigorates, and gives tone to the system, makes pure blood, is food and nourishment for nerves and tissue. It makes sick people well.

"It gives me great pleasure to state to you, and to any suffering human being, that in my judgment there are thousands upon thousands in this broad land of ours who are today suffering, who might enjoy all the blessings of health if they would but use your great medicine, Paine's Celery Compound.

"For the cure of dyspepsia it has no superior, and that dread disease, insomnia, will soon be a thing of the past if people who are thus afflicted will use this medicine.

"I have used the Compound in my family and always with beneficial results. As a family medicine I do not think it possible to find its superior. To those who are worn out in body, it will speedily bring them back to health and make them feel that life is worth living again. To all poor, suffering, human creatures, we say use Paine's Celery Compound if you want to be made well."

Facing the lower harbor of Bergen, at the end of a long row of quaint old warehouses, stands a venerable building more than 700 years old, called the Finnegaarden, one of the counting houses of the league, which has been preserved intact and is now a museum filled with interesting relics of that celebrated corporation. They show how its managers and employees lived and conducted business. The league owned the harbor and a considerable portion of the city and controlled not only its manufacturing, mercantile trade and foreign commerce, but also its fisheries, which have always been its most valuable industry. Bergen then, as now, was the greatest fish market in the world.

The management of the business of the league was intrusted only to Germans, who were imported for that purpose, and were not allowed to marry lest their wives should learn its secrets. The managers and clerks were housed in colonies of fourteen, each colony having control of certain interests and keeping separate accounts of its transactions. The men slept in cupboards built into the walls in a curious manner. They did their own cooking. They had their own church, with priests imported from Germany. They were pious scoundrels, as the evidence shows, for along with their crucifixes and prayer books and pictures of the saints are records showing that they kept two sets of scales—one for buying and one for selling—and the attendant will show you a parchment book in which the manager notes for the edification of his employers that he cheated a fisherman out of 200 vogs of fish—a vog being thirty-six pounds—and invokes "the blessing of God upon this small profit." The inscription over the door of the counting house reads, "Without God's blessing all is vain."

The money was kept in an immense ironbound chest, divided into compartments of various sizes, some of them holding a bushel, in which were deposited the various kinds of coin until the collector came to make his periodical settlement. At the bottom and in the sides of the chest are secret compartments for concealing contracts and other papers of value.—W. E. Curtis in Chicago Herald.

Don't Be Photographed In Silk.

Certain materials are risky, to say the least, in a photograph. Satins or silks with high luster throw lights and shadows which are harsh and unexpected in reproduction. Softly folding, easily draped and not pronounced are crapes, either silk or wool, and chiffon. Stiff, starchy effects are to be strictly tabooed unless it be the translucence of Swiss or organdie. Stripes and large patterns in lace or silk are failures. So are big brocades or plaids. Velvet and fine furs are especially happy selections, and such accessories as a handsome opera cloak or a long ostrich fan are deemed happy adjuncts with full dress.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK March 14.—The cotton market opened steady with prices two points higher to one point lower, and almost immediately became firm on brisk covering and moderate foreign buying. The basis for this demand was a firmer ruling of the Liverpool market than believed to be due on the New York close of yesterday. Prospect of port receipts of 14,000 bales as against 20,000 same day last year helped to encourage bull support and to intimidate the bears. But before 11 o'clock the whole situation seemed to swing around in favor of the shorts. Port receipts came in heavier than early figured upon, the inside estimates shaped toward 170,000 bales, and the English market suddenly turned easier. Active commission house selling, a withdrawal of bull support and vigorous bear selling quickly forced the whole list off, July dropped from 8.90 to 8.80. Further Fall River strike talk, though more or less vague, was not without a depressing influence nor was a cable from Manchester stating that short time sentiment was becoming more general. The official sight was fully as bearish as predicted and for the time being took every vestige of bull snap out of the market. Just when everything seemed to favor for the bears, estimates for to-morrow's New Orleans and Houston receipts came into prominence, showing a relatively small movement. Then came a report that a prominent local export house was selling spot cotton to Southern mills, buying May cotton in New York in its place, thereby reaping a generous profit. Buying for both accounts became popular in the last hour and before the close July had stiffened to 8 88 with other options up in proportion. The market closed very steady with prices net unchanged to three points higher.

ENGLISHMAN GOT A SHOCK.

Cultured Chinaman Made Him Lose His Sense of Superiority.

A writer in London M. A. P. tells of meeting Sir Chi Chen, afterward the Chinese embassador to London, in Tientsin when the latter was plain Mr. Lo Feng Luh, an undersecretary of state in the entourage of the viceroy of the province, Li Hung Chang. "My own mission was to the 'Bismarck of China,' as the one statesman in faroff Cathay was known at the time, which was before the fall," says the writer, "and Mr. Lo Feng Luh had been deputized to serve me in the double capacity of cicerone and interpreter.

"We sat sipping tea in the long wait which in Chinese court life follows the announcement of your name and precedes your reception, and is supposed to deepen your respect for the great man of whom you have sought an audience and to deaden in yourself any lingering consciousness of British superiority. Then it was that Mr. Lo Feng Luh suddenly opened up his battery of questions and criticism upon the leading men of letters, philosophers and theologians of Europe. His inquiries were not, indeed, of the alumni of one nation, but of many, and when he had done with Spencer, Huxley, Darwin, the Elizabethan poets, the theology of Dollinger, the writing of Comte, the plays of Moliere, he wafted his way to America and was promptly at home with Oliver Wendell Holmes, James Russell Lowell and the funny stories of Mr. Chauncey Depew."

The Sargasso Sea.

The Sargasso sea is a region in the Atlantic about midway between southern Europe and America, extending from 21 fo 23 degrees north latitude and between 29 and 45 degrees west longitude. It derived its name from a Portuguese word signifying a grape, and was so called because the seaweeds characteristic of the region bear on their branches small air cells, which in shape are not unlike the grape clusters. The weeds themselves are among the most peculiar of vegetable productions, since they have no roots nor any signs of fructification and are propagated by division. They float in the water, sometimes in dense masses extending for miles.

This portion of the Atlantic is a great eddy, little affected by the currents which surround it on every side, and the stillness of the water, it is supposed, has contributed to the development of the weeds in the vast quantities in which they are found. The floating masses were noticed by Columbus and his men, to whom they were a source of uneasiness, as the sailors supposed they indicated shallow water. Detached masses of the weed are often seen in the gulf stream, and the long, yellow lines of floating weed are a sure indication of its close proximity.

Power and Nose.

A large nose is always an unfailing sign of a decided character. It belongs to the man of action, quick to see and to seize opportunity. A small nose indicates a passive nature, one less apt to act, although he may feel as deeply. He will have many theories, while the possessor of a large nose will have deeds to show. Persons with small noses are most loving and sympathizing, but their friendship is not the active kind.

A nose with the tip slightly tilted is the sign of the heartless flirt. A long nose shows dignity and repose. A short nose, pugnacity and a love of gayety. An arched nose—one projecting at the bridge—shows thought. A straight nose shows an inclination toward serious subjects. A nose that turns up slightly indicates eloquence, wit and imagination. If turned up much, it shows egotism and love of luxury. A nose that slopes out directly from the forehead, that shows no indenting between the eyes, indicates power. If the nose is indented deeply at the root, the subject will be weak and vacillating. A nose that turns down signifies that the possessor is miserly and sarcastic.—Ladies' Home Journal.

A Bold "Ad."

As may be supposed, the largest advertisement in the world is that of an American firm. But the giant "ad." is not in America. Far off across the rolling deep it is spread along the face of a cliff on one of the islets of the Canary group, so that all passing steamers may sight it and their passengers have the benefit of its advice. The whole sentence is 750 feet long and is painted on the cliff at a height of 300 feet from the waves. There are four words in letters each 30 feet high and 75 feet wide. The huge sign can be seen for miles at sea on a clear day. The boldness of the thing almost takes away any anger which one may feel at the disfigurement of the islet by this bit of commercial enterprise.

Bird Hunting on Horseback.

Kentuckians of the blue grass region hunt birds on horseback. A Kentuckian's hunter must not only be willing to stand while the owner dismounts and goes to look after a covey of birds, but must also allow the owner to fire a shotgun from its back.

A great deal of the hunting in the blue grass region is now done in this way, and many of the sportsmen are as good at wing shooting from the saddle as from the ground.—Exchange.

Sick of Tigers.

A cynical old man once found himself in the company of a large number of Anglo-Indians, and he proceeded to ask each guest if he had shot a tiger. At last one gentleman declared he had never even seen the royal beast.

"Thank God!" exclaimed the questioner. "May I sit next to you at dinner? I am so weary of hearing about the deaths of tigers."—Athenæum.

Crippled Womanhood

No woman would hesitate a moment to have a physical deformity righted. Few women are lame and blind, but a majority of women to-day are crippled physically and mentally by female suffering. Irregular menses are sapping their lives and weakening their vitality. Bearing down pains, leucorrhoea and pains in the head, back, neck and limbs are disabling them so effectually that few women are found sufficient for all the demands of life. It is to these sufferers that is offered to-day. That Wine of Cardui will cure you is supported by the fact that 1,000,000 women have secured relief from this wonderful emmenagogue. There are few cases where Wine of Cardui has failed to give relief. Presented with these facts can you go on suffering when your druggist is waiting to sell you this remedy which will give you strong nerves and perfect health? You need not be a cripple. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

East Florence, Ala., January 6, 1901.

I thank you for your kind letter and if I can be of any help to sufferers I will do all I can. There is no reason why so many women should suffer so, for Wine of Cardui cures all female weakness. I have thought for a long time I would write and tell you what Wine of Cardui has done for me. I had been a sufferer for ten years with all that could all a woman. Wine of Cardui has done me more good than all the doctors ever did. I just think I can't live without it. I keep it all the time. I have taken about ten bottles of it and have recommended it to a great many friends and it has done wonders for them. It is a never-failing cure for women. I hope all will try it.

The Fruit Cures.

Of the innumerable "cures" which have from time to time met favor in the eyes of the public the simplest and most agreeable of all is perhaps the "fruit cure."

Fruits are divided into five classes—the astringent, the mealy, the oily, the acid and sweet. Each has an especial value.

The grape is the king cure of all fruits, and is recommended particularly to the consumptive, the anæmic and the dyspeptic; also for gout and all liver complaints.

The prescription in each case is very simple, varying, of course, according to the complaint. To begin with, the patient consumes from a half to a pound and a half of grapes daily, increasing gradually to nine or ten pounds. This diet is to be continued until the patient's health shows a general improvement.

To the sweet fruits a special hygienic virtue is ascribed, particularly to the plum, as a remedy in articular rheumatism or preventive to gout.

The acid class, which includes raspberries, strawberries, peaches, apples, gooseberries, cherries, lemons and oranges, stands at the head of the list. All these fruits are prescribed for stomach troubles.

Strikes a Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by R. R. BELLAMY, druggist. †

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 15.

NELLIE CROPSEY MURDER.

Taking of Testimony in Trial of James Wilcox—Coroner Fearing the Only Witness Examined.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., March 14.—The taking of testimony in the case of James Wilcox, charged with the murder of Miss Nellie Cropsey, was begun to-day.

Coroner Fearing, the first witness, described the autopsy he together with Doctors Wood and McMullen performed on the body of Miss Cropsey. They found clotted blood about the base of the brain; also a bruise on the left temple. There was no evidence of the murdered girl having been criminally assaulted.

Coroner Fearing testified that the body was found in the Pasquotank river in front of the Cropsey residence. He examined the body. The clothing was intact. The legs were limp and dangling in the water and there was no water in lungs or stomach. There was a contusion on the left temple and the blow that caused it would have occasioned unconsciousness for at least a half hour. The absence of water from the lungs and stomach combined with other facts, he said, was evidence that Nellie Cropsey was put in the water in an unconscious state. Cross examination did not cause any change in his testimony. Dr. Fearing was the only witness examined to-day. The Misses Sadie and Annie Wilcox took seats by their brother this afternoon. Andrew Cropsey arrived this afternoon. Crowds continue to attend the trial and the number of women in attendance increases perceptibly.

GATE CITY OIL COMPANY.

Application for a Receiver Filed—The President's Statement.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, GA., March 14.—Alleging that their interests have been neglected, William Oliver, Thomas Oliver, George Oliver and Mrs. M. J. Trevell have filed an application for a receiver for the Gate City Oil Company, of which their brother, John Oliver, is president.

The parties aver that they hold 658 shares at a par value of $65,800, which they authorized John Oliver to sell for them. The plaintiffs claim that under this option the brother bought this stock for himself, paying them $110 per share, while it was worth at least $140 per share.

The court is petitioned to declare this sale cancelled and to return the stock to the plaintiffs. They also ask for a permanent receiver for the company.

John Oliver, the president of the company, says the brothers have been endeavoring to compel him to sell the plants of the company in this city and Charlotte, N. C. He further stated that he had options from all parties allowing him to purchase the stock at $110 per share. The company owes no debts, he said, and there was no reason why it should be placed in the hands of a receiver.

FALL RIVER MILLS.

Fight Between Capital and Labor Scheduled to Begin Next Monday.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

FALL RIVER, MASS., March 14.—The industrial situation remains unchanged to-day. Both the manufacturers and the textile unions adhere to their previous decisions and it now looks as if a fight between capital and labor will ensue. The general public is hoping that a compromise will be effected that will prevent the battle scheduled to be commenced next Monday morning. To day the managers of Sagamore mill No. 1 opened their gates and were prepared to resume operations. This plant has been closed for nine weeks on account of a difference between the management and the weavers as to the number of yards a cut of cloth should contain. The management was confident of enough help, but only about thirty appeared. This is a very small percentage of the total number.

DISCUSSIONS IN SENATE AND HOUSE

Senator McLaurin of Mississippi Spoke in Opposition to the Subsidy Bill.

FORAKER FAVORED MEASURE

House Passed the Postoffice Appropriation Bill—Burleson of Texas Again Criticised State Department for Action in Regard to Boers.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Throughout the session of the Senate to-day the Ship Subsidy bill was under consideration. The measure was discussed by Senator Foraker of Ohio, Senator McLaurin of Mississippi, and Senator Harris of Kansas. Senator Foraker supported the bill, although he admitted that he would have preferred to build up the American merchant marine by the levying of discriminating duties. He was willing, however, to defer to the judgment of the majority, that the pending measure emoodied the better plan.

While Senator Foraker was discussing the mail routes to be established under the pending bill, Senator Bacon, Georgia, insisted that the measure should specify what routes should be established, that no such important question should be left to the postmaster general.

Senator Foraker admitted that he would prefer such a course, but Senator Hanna suggested that the ship owners ought to have something to say upon the subject, as it would not be just to provide routes that could not be operated at a profit.

Senator Foraker asserted that the International Navigation Company—the American line—had made no money by carrying the mails under the postal subsidy act and did not care for a renewal of its contract.

Senator McLaurin, Mississippi, followed Senator Foraker. He was opposed not only to the bill, he said, but to the principles it represented. Whatever is given by the government as a subsidy, Senator McLaurin charged, would simply be a contribution to the dividends of those engaged in shipping instead of for the purpose of encouraging shipbuilding in this country. He said there had been no decadence in shipbuilding in the United States, all reports tending to show that the industry is now experiencing a boom such as it has not had in fifty years. He attacked the proposed United States Shipbuilding Company and called it a combination formed for the purpose of employing labor as economically as possible.

Refering to his amendment introduced recently requiring the names of persons, and firms and members of corporations that would be benefitted by the bill to be made public, Senator McLaurin said that taxpayers from whom the subsidy must come should have an opportunity to know the individuals to whom their money is paid. Speaking of the portion of his amendment prohibiting Senators and members from enjoying any of the benefits of the bill by reason of their interest in shipping, he said that the necessity of eliminating one's interest when it conflicts with duty to the United States is apparent. He cited in support of his position, the charges brought against Ambassador Clayton, and said that a government official must not have his duty on one side and his private interests on the other.

In conclusion, Senator McLaurin said he was as anxious as any Republican Senator to rehabilitate the American merchant marine, but he would rather not see the American flag float over one American merchant vessel than to see one stained with the taint of money which did not legitimately belong to its owner.

Senator Harris opposed the measure, particularly on the ground that it was not constitutional. Senator Harris made the point that the United States now was paying more to the American Line for the carrying of ocean mails than was paid to foreign ships for greater service.

House of Representatives.

The House to-day passed the Post office Appropriation bill. The only amendment of importance was one to incorporate in the bill the provisions of the bill to classify the rural free delivery service, passed a few days ago.

Mr. Crumpacker, Indiana, moved to strike out the appropriation of $142,728 for the special fast mail facilities from Washington to New Orleans. His motion was lost—86 to 56.

Mr. Burleson, Texas, renewed the discussion of the case of Rev. Hiram W. Thomas and wife, whose application to the State Department for a request to the British authorities for passports to enter the Boer lines in South Africa for the purpose of distributing relief funds was brought to the attention of the House by him a few days ago. Mr. Burleson declared that Mr. Hitt's defence of the refusal of the State Department to accede to the request, while it might have been able was 'lame.' The State Department, he said in declining the request, did not plead the violation of international comity as Mr. Hitt had done. Mr. Burleson denied that the hypothesis of Mr Hitt as to our refusal to allow Confederate sympathizers to go through the lines during the civil war was a parallel case, and moreover he said it was not an historical fact. He read a letter from a union surgeon stationed at City Point, Va., during the war, who told of how the union forces allowed relief to pass through the lines. "If General Sherman," asked he, "had concentrated Southern women and children in camps did any one imagine that the North would not have allowed relief to be sent to them?"

In conclusion, Mr. Burleson called attention to a Berlin dispatch announcing that Great Britain had granted permission for the distribution of charitable gifts collected in Germany for the Boer prisoners.

Mr. Hitt, Illinois, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, replied briefly to Mr. Burleson. He had read a letter he had received from Secretary Hay. The letter was as follows:

"A few days ago a young gentleman called and asked whether this department would issue passports to the Rev. Mr. Thomas and Mrs. Thomas, who were intending to go to South Africa for the purpose of distributing funds which had been collected in Illinois for the benefit of the sufferers by the war. I said at once the department would issue the passports desired and that I would also give Mr. Thomas a letter commending him to every one whom I could influence and asking their assistance in this errand. Inquiry was then made whether this government would ask of the British government permission for Mr. and Mrs Thomas to go at will through the British military lines and camps, a suggestion which I thought impracticable.

"This department is ready at any time to consult with a representative of Governor Yates as to the best means of getting into the proper hands sums contributed by charitable people in Illinois for the relief of the sufferers by the war in South Africa."

Immediately afterward Mr. Hitt presented the resolution reported by his committee which called upon the secretary of State for the facts in the case of the application made to the State Department in behalf of Dr. Thomas and wife. The resolution was adopted.

BODY OF WHITE MAN FOUND IN EDISTO RIVER.

Believed to be Remains of Bartow Warren, Alleged to Have Twice Robbed the Southern Express Co.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 14.—Early this morning fishermen near Branchville found the half-decomposed body of a white man floating in the Edisto river, a circle of flying buzzards watching it from above. It was near the bend in the river where the express company's safe was found on the day after the recent express car robbery. Two large pistols were strapped around the body and in the coat pockets were found twelve express envelopes, four of them containing money.

On the day following the express robbery the trail was traced by bloodhounds to a place on the river near where the body was found to-day, where it was lost. It is thought the robber attempted to swim across the rapid current, but being weighted down by his clothes, heavy pistols and cartridges, he perished miserably. Those who have seen the body pronounce it to be the notorious Bartow Warren, who is alleged to have robbed the Southern Express Company twice and to have murdered the chief witness against him.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—Secretary Hester's weekly cotton statement issued to-day shows for fourteen days of March an increase over last year of 18 000 bales and an increase over the same period year before last of 40,000.

For the 195 days of the season that have elapsed the aggregate is ahead of the same days of last year 451,000 bales and ahead of the same days year before last 982,000.

The amount brought into sight during the past week has been 171,214 bales, against 156 224 for the same seven days last year and 138 326 year before last.

The movement since September 1, shows: Receipts at all United States ports 6,719,334 bales against 6 129,810 last year; overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to Northern mills and Canada 902,893, against 913 110 last year; interior stocks in excess of those held at the close of the commercial year 302 605 against 559 277 last year; Southern mill takings 1,065,000 against 936,688 last year.

The total movement since September 1st is 8,989,832 bales, against 8,538 885 last year and 8,007,417 year before last.

Foreign exports for the week have been 130,452 bales, against 133 040 last year, making the total thus far for the season 5,376,531 bales, against 4,659,123 last year.

The total takings of American mills (North and South) and Canada thus far for the season have been 2,792,300 bales, against 2,535,285 last year.

Stocks at the seaboard and the twenty-nine leading Southern interior centers have decreased during the week 42,339 bales, against a decrease during the corresponding period last season of 32,826.

Including stocks left over at ports and interior towns from the last crop and the number of bales brought into sight thus far for the new crop, the supply to date is 9,349 519 bales, against 8,661,419 for the same period last year.

WRECK ON THE NICKEL PLATE

Passenger Train Smashed—Four Trainmen Badly Injured—Cars Burned Many Persons Slightly Hurt.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KNOX IND., March 14.—The west bound Nickel Plate passenger train, due here at 2 50 P. M., ran into an open switch to-day, resulting in a disastrous wreck. The following persons were severely injured: M. A. Schwind, engineer, Fort Wayne; Jim Dalton, fireman, Fort Wayne; C. L. Alexander, baggage master, Cleveland, Ohio; William Browe, mail clerk, Cleveland Ohio.

The train was running at a high speed when it collided with a number of freight cars that were standing on a side track. The baggage coach was torn to pieces and the engine and six freight cars were piled in a heap, which was completely destroyed by fire. The fire raged for several hours, blockading all traffic for more than four hours. No one was killed, although many passengers were slightly injured.

Swind received dangerous wounds in the head and his wrists were severely cut. He almost bled to death. Dalton's shoulder and wrist were severely injured. Alexander and Browe, it is feared, were internally injured. The railroad company's loss is heavy.

VIRGINIA COAL MINE STRIKE.

Operators Telegraph for More Guns and Ammunition—Crisis Seems at Hand

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ROANOKE, VA., March 14—A special from Bristol says reports from the Southwest Virginia coal fields to-night indicate practically no change in the situation. Private advices are to the effect that about one thousand miners are now out. These men are face to face with armed guards and the situation is liable to become critical at any moment. The miners are said to be relying upon the native mountaineers for aid in case of an emergency. The operators, it is said, have telegraphed for more guns and ammunition. The crisis seems at hand and developments are expected very soon.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

Will Consider Government's Attitude in Relation to the Boers.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Representative Randall, of Texas, to-day circulated among his Democratic colleagues of the House a petition for a caucus of Democratic members to consider what course should be adopted in relation to the government's attitude toward the Boers. The petition was addressed to Representative Hay, chairman of the Democratic caucus, and named March 19th as the time for the gathering. The signatures were very general on the Democratic side of the House and the caucus probably will be held although no call has yet been issued.

RECIPROCITY ISSUE WITH THE CUBANS.

Republican Representatives in the House Not Yet Reached an Agreement.

BUT COMPROMISE IS CERTAIN

Some of the Conferees State That While an Amicable Adjustment Would be Made There Would be No Reduction of Tariff.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Members of the Ways and Means Committee stated with positiveness to-day that the conferences now in progress would result in a compromise agreement on the Cuban reciprocity issue, probably on the lines of 20 per cent. concession for one or two years.

On the other hand some of the conferees representing the element opposed to the Ways and Means, stated that while an amicable adjustment undoubtedly would be reached, there would be no consent to any plan involving a reduction of tariff. Representative Fordney, of Michigan, one of the conferees, takes this view and has favored in the conference a plan by which there shall be 20 per cent. reduction of the Cuban duties on United States goods going into Cuba, and in return the payment to Cuba out of the United States Treasury of an amount equal to 20 per cent. of the duties on Cuban goods coming here. Mr. Fordney holds that this will give the desired relief without involving a reduction of duty. The plan is somewhat similar to the rebate proposition hereto'ore presented, except that this payment is to go direct to Cuba instead of to the planters.

The conferees continued their discussion to-day. At its close it was stated that the prospects for an agreement were good but that the form of the agreement was still in doubt, no one plan having yet shown its advantages over the others. There were no votes at the meeting to-day.

NORFOLK CAR STRIKE.

Situation Unchanged--Strike Sympathizers Stoning Cars at Every Opportunity.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NORFOLK, VA., March 14.—The strike here to-day is practically in the same condition as yesterday. Cars are running but not on regular schedule. Strike sympathizers are stoning cars at every opportunity, the dark places in the suburbs being their hang-outs.

E. T. Allen and H. J. Ruth, both former employes, who were arrested last night and charged with shooting into and stoning cars, had their preliminary trial before Judge Carmine this afternoon and were sent on to the grand jury. In this State this is a serious crime and if a conviction follows it will mean several years in the penitentiary for the defendants.

Allen and Ruth deny that the charges against them can be proved and have engaged counsel. They are in Norfolk county jail, not having been able to give bail as yet.

The trolley wire on Granby street, one of the principal thoroughfares, was cut at 6:30 o'clock and all cars were tied up for over three hours while squads of electricians, in wagons were out trying to locate the trouble. The track was greased in several places to-night and cars stopped. The cutting of the wires caused the cars to be sent in earlier.

FATAL SHOOTING.

Two Men Were Killed and a Third Man Wounded at Lexington, Tenn.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NASHVILLE, TENN., March 14.—A special from Lexington, Tenn., says Sam Pratt to-day shot and killed two men and wounded the third. John Lindsey, Tom Hancock and his son-in-law Sam Hancock, and Neil Murray were taking a drink when Pratt rode up and was invited to join. He refused, it is said, saying the liquor had been stolen from his house. Tom Hancock resented the imputation whereupon Pratt drew his pistol and put a ball through Hancock's heart. Lindsey was then shot through the head. Both men died instantly. Pratt fired at Sam Hancock, but the ball missed and lodged in the hand of Murray. Pratt surrendered.

Washington correspondence of Raleigh Post: "Congressman Bellamy is interesting himself in the subject of tariff reduction in wood pulp and other paper materials. He thinks it an outrage that the Republican party should allow the paper trust to gouge the newspapers. Mr. Bellamy will make a speech on the subject at an early date. To-day he saw Sereno Payne, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, and talked with him on the subject. Mr. Payne, like the other Republicans, is unwilling to interfere with the tariff in any respect.
